

ANACONDA

PLAY MORE PAY LESS

10%
OFF

CAR PARK SALE

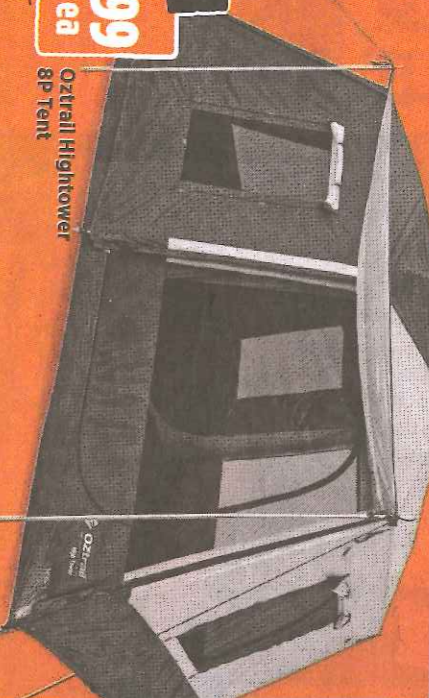

THIS WEEKEND ONLY

Oztrail

50% OFF

$1999 ea

REG-$3999

Oztrail Hightower 8p Tent

40% OFF ALL TENTS

BY DUNE

Oztrail

Getaway Chair

50% OFF

$399 ea

REG-$799

spinifex.

CLUB PRICE
SAVE $300

$399 ea

REG-$699

Spinifex Jardine Tent

DUNE

50% OFF

$1749 ea

REG-$3499

Dune Outback II Swag

OSAKA

Seek Swift Kayak

SAVE $200

$299 ea

REG-$499

50% OFF ALL SLEEPING BAGS

BY spinifex.

CLUB EXCLUSIVE

20-50% OFF

ALL BIKES

BY FLUID

EXCLUDES CLEARANCE

40% OFF ALL PUFFER JACKETS & VESTS

BY CAPE

40% OFF ALREADY REDUCED CLEARANCE CLOTHING & FOOTWEAR

Take a Fair View

Excludes Ground Breaking Prices, already reduced items and clearance lines. Colours and sizes will vary from store to store. Not in conjunction with any other offer. Sale ends Tuesday 30th May 2017.

ASHMORE • CAIRNS • EVERTON PARK • KAWANA WATERS • LOGAN • MORAYFIELD
NEW NORTH LAKES • NEW ROCKHAMPTON • TOOWOOMBA • TOWNSVILLE • WEST BURLEIGH

CONNECT WITH US   ANACONDASTORES.COM

16 NEWS

SATURDAY MAY 27 2017 COURIERMAIL.COM.AU

LITTLE BLOSSOM:
Summer Cullen, 4, enjoys the flowers in Laurel Bank Park, Toowoomba.

Picture: Claudia Baxter

FLOWERS THE POWER

PREPARATIONS are already under way for Toowoomba's Carnival of Flowers in September. Australia's longest-running annual horticultural event will again transform the garden city, bringing thousands of local and interstate visitors for nine days of floral appreciation and activities.

Temperatures in Toowoomba are expected to drop next week in the lead up to winter. "There might be a bit of early fog in Toowoomba (this) morning, but then it should be fine," Bureau of Meteorology forecaster Rick Threlfall said.

Road, not rail the way to go

DARL PASSMORE

THE much-vaunted Cross River Rail is rated a top priority by only a third of southeast Queenslanders, new research reveals.

Despite being pushed by the Palaszczuk Government as the state's clear No.1 infrastructure project, a poll shows that residents in the region rate it just seventh in terms of importance, behind a long list of road upgrades.

As the state and federal governments squabble publicly over funding for the $5.2 billion proposal - including a river tunnel and underground stations - it was regarded as extremely or very important by 35 per cent of respondents in the poll, commissioned by a consortium of peak bodies.

Brisbane City Council's proposed $1 billion high-frequency Metro network was prioritised by 54 per cent of southeast Queenslanders, putting it third behind upgrades to the M1 Pacific Motorway and Ipswich Motorway.

Infrastructure Association of Queensland chief executive Steve Abson said the results highlighted people's concerns over transport congestion.

The relatively low level of importance placed on Cross River Rail "probably says there is more work to be done in selling the congestion-busting component of it".

"It does not mean the Government has got its priorities wrong," he said.

Statewide, healthcare infrastructure, such as hospitals, child and aged care, is in greatest demand, followed by major roads and highways.

Investment in renewable energy ranked third, supported by 71 per cent of the 1000 people polled - nearly triple the 24 per cent wanting coal and gas-fired power stations prioritised.

And the Adani mega-mine, railway and port project, which split the Government this week, drew surprisingly low support - prioritised by under 40 per cent of people, even in north and central Queensland. POLLIE FAILURE - INSIGHT P37